PURPOSE: Give a brief summary of the job, covering the main responsibilities, the framework within which the job has to operate and the main contribution to the organization (see Section 2.3).

The Court of Justice is the gateway to the majority of criminal prosecutions in Alberta and is the most visible court in the Province. This Court is comprised of a Chief Justice, a Deputy Chief Justice, an Assistant Chief Justice for each of the nine divisions, 143 full-time justices, up to 25 Supernumerary judges and 43 Justices of the Peace. The Alberta Court of Justice services 73 court locations across the province.

The Court of Justice hears criminal, traffic, regulatory and bylaw enforcement hearings; as well as most civil cases also take place in the Court of Justice, including cases involving landlord and tenant and claims involving up to $100,000. The Court of Justice also hears a majority of family law cases and child welfare cases. The Court has developed alternatives to traditional court processes and partners with other agencies that provide fair, efficient, and accessible alternatives to court such as Drug Treatment Court, Mental Health Court, Mediation, Judicial Resolution and Indigenous Court processes.

The Judicial Assistant performs executive, administrative, paralegal and related duties for Justices of the Court of Justice and Justices of the Peace. The incumbent responds effectively and knowledgeably to complex issues and takes appropriate and often independent action within department guidelines. These functions necessitate strong problem-solving and decision-making skills, often requiring the application of ethics and discretion in relation to disclosure of information. Sound judgment is used in making decision, applying policies, procedures and established practices. Where issues are not clearly defined, the employee draws on experience and / or implements innovative solutions appropriate to the situation.

The Judicial Assistant provides a broad range of knowledge and extensive support to the Justices of the Court of Justice by providing management of highly confidential and legal applications to other Courts, agencies, departments and the public sector. The Judicial Assistant receives and handles confidential and sensitive information and demonstrates excellent interpersonal and communication skills, both oral and written. Support is provided in a highly professional manner with a high degree of autonomy, diplomacy and confidentiality. Work is performed using strong organization skills, unquestionable integrity and a thorough knowledge of the paralegal discipline.
